Where do you see your City in 10 years? Broadview Heights, with help from County Planning, is currently updating the City's Master Plan. We are asking for your help to define your vision for the community, as well as goals, priorities, and actions for the future.

At this meeting, County Planning will introduce the Master Plan process and describe what has been accomplished to this point. We hope you will take the opportunity to share your thoughts and ideas through some interactive exercises that will get you thinking about future growth and development in your City.

Your involvement is vital! Please join us and help shape the future of Broadview Heights.
